I AM most glad to find in a newspaper that we are going to have a school in our parish under the management of such a learned and good man as Mr. Smith is. I have for a long time wished to see my two sons brought up in such a way as this is, for I could not give a better example to my children here all the skill in the whole world if he does not tell them how to be a good man, and a good planter too. And I am only glad that Mrs. Smith will teach my boys how to find out shells, for I always did wonder at this, and to be true he will tell them how to make swimback traps, and then they will know the weather, and catch their crops accordingly. And one reason why I write to you is to know if he won't teach them this. And what makes me like this school better than the college in Williamsburg is that he will have your globes, and your thermometer and thermometer, which I never heard of in the college, and which they say makes fine scholars. But I don't like his larning them two religions; but I hope, if I desire it, he won't make my boys Newtsites. And I like it too because it will be very good for us poor people, as it is his owne place, and a great many fish to be catch there, as he will afford to bord the boys very cheap, and such a good man as he wont want to put any money in his own pockets. But there is one thing I am afraid of, and fearing, that the boys may get drowned in a filling, or else the old houses may choke them. But my aunty Dinah was choked with a bird bone, and brother Tom was drowned in a mill dam, for all he was a great deal bigger than my Tomme. But I pray God Mr. Smith will watch them at all times, and make them pick them fish well, and that's all I want. This from your humble servant.

WILLIAMSBURG, March 1, 1770.

ONE James Ranford of Gloucester place on November 10, 1769, deceased, who is now in his possession, to Abraham Smith and Sarah his wife, for 99 years and contained that he, or his heirs, etc., at the expiration of that time, would make another sale, for the like term, to Abraham or his heirs, etc., then paying 100 pounds of tobacco. I sold him part of his land of the before-mentioned, and ever since he has sold the rest of the same to me best, and now am ready to take delivery of the same, the tobacco, but I cannot discover who is the person entitled to the reversion. If he inclines to sell his reversion, I am willing to buy it for what it is worth.

HIS Excellency NORBORNE Baron de BOTETOURT, Governor General of this his Majesty's colony of Virginia, having been pleased to appoint me Adjutant of the troops inlisted, the tenantry of the country obliges me to take the method to notify to the several County Lieutenants my intention of attending their general muster the ensuing spring; they will therefore please to appoint them respectively at the different courthouses on the days following, viz. Frederick on the first Monday in April, Hanover on the first Thursday, Augusta on the second Monday, Albemarle on the second Thursday, Amherst on the second Saturday, Bedford on the third Monday, Blandford the third Tuesday, Pittsylvania on the fourth Monday, Halifax on the fourth Thursday, Mecklenburg on the fifth Monday, Lunenburg on the first Thursday in May, and Charlotte on the first Monday; in which they will greatly oblige their most obedient and very humble servant.
