...
and I do of my's own motion, give to my youngest daughter, Jane, all my books and papers, and the young legate of the name of Sarah, to husband his leisure for learning to such degree as to be a good laborer in the province of the United States of America, and to improve it to the best advantage. I give to my daughter, Sarah, all my books and papers, and the young legate of the name of Sarah, to husband his leisure for learning to such degree as to be a good laborer in the province of the United States of America, and to improve it to the best advantage.

The said Thomas Wyllie to have and enjoy for his own and for his children, as above directed, all the lands, goods, and chattels belonging to me. I give to my younger daughter, Jane, all my books and papers, and the young legate of the name of Sarah, to husband his leisure for learning to such degree as to be a good laborer in the province of the United States of America, and to improve it to the best advantage. I give to my daughter, Sarah, all my books and papers, and the young legate of the name of Sarah, to husband his leisure for learning to such degree as to be a good laborer in the province of the United States of America, and to improve it to the best advantage.
I give to my wife Ann Wythe the only girl, as also all of my property that I had at my death, and in case of her decease I give it to my brother-in-law John Lynch and my two children Thomas Wythe and Ann Wythe.

My will is that my property be equally divided among all my children, and my two children, Thomas Wythe and Ann Wythe.

My will is that my property be equally divided among all my children.
My Will is that after my debt to Legates and pendants, then all my horses, saddle, and all the rest, my clock, and all my house goods & negrops I equally divide between my loving Wife Ann Wylde & my loving two children Thomas Wylde & Ann Wylde.