HATHAWAY PRESENTED NASA EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY MEDAL

Roger A. Hathaway was awarded a NASA Equal Employment Opportunity Medal March 27 at the Honor Awards Ceremony at NASA's Langley Research Center in Hampton, Va.

He received the award "for significant advancement towards NASA's equal opportunity goals for minorities pursuing science and engineering careers."

Hathaway began his Langley career in 1982 and is presently an Education and Information Specialist in the Office of Public Services, Office of External Affairs.

Prior to coming to Langley he served as a technology education teacher in Hampton from 1972 to 1979, in intergovernmental personnel with Virginia Tech from 1979 to 1981, and from 1981 to 1982 he was an aerospace specialist in the OSU Aerospace Project.

Hathaway is a member of the Technology Education Association, National Education Association, Peninsula Boy Scouts of America, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and United States Tennis Association.

In addition to his present award he has received a Group Achievement Award, a Special Achievement Award and two Equal Employment Opportunity Awards.
A native of Edenton, N.C., Hathaway graduated from D.F. Walker High School there in 1968, received a bachelor of science degree in technology education, with honors, from Elizabeth City State University in 1972, and received a master of science degree in technology education administration from Virginia State University in 1977.

He and his wife Ida have one son, and live in Hampton.